

March 2009

International Social Science Journal

Wiley-Blackwell & UNESCO

The ethics of knowledge production – Pacific challenges

Editorial advisers:

Rosemary Du Plessis and Peggy Fairbairn-Dunlop

Rosemary Du Plessis and Peggy Fairbairn-Dunlop

The ethics of knowledge production – Pacific challenges

Tui Atua Tupua
Tamasese Ta'isi Efi

Bioethics and the Samoan indigenous reference

Maui Hudson

Think globally, act locally: collective consent and the ethics of knowledge production

Karlo Mila-Schaaf

Pacific health research guidelines: the cartography of an ethical relationship

Mere Roberts

Consultation concerning novel biotechnologies: who speaks for Māori?

Steve Ratuva

Commodifying cultural knowledge: corporatized western science and Pacific indigenous knowledge

Book review

Virginie Tournay,
Anne-Laure Amilhat-Szary
and Patricia Legris

A sociohistorical reading of the Dictionnaire des Mondialisations. First steps towards a pragmatic approach to globalisation

Past issues

Global Knowledge/ Ethics of Global Knowledge in the Pacific

Global knowledge

Editorial adviser: Nico Stehr

	Abstracts	1
Nico Stehr and Ulrich Ufer	On the global distribution and dissemination of knowledge	7
	The protection of traditional knowledge
Ashok Kumbamu	The global knowledge encounter: a sociological analysis of the introduction of genetically modified seed in Warangal, India	25
Janice Busingye and Wiebke Keim	The political battlefield: negotiating space to protect indigenous and traditional knowledge under capitalism	37
	Global knowledge and development
Hans-Dieter Evers, Markus Kaiser and Christine Müller	Knowledge and development: epistemic machineries in a global context	55
Ran Greenstein	Alternative modernity: development discourse in post-apartheid South Africa	69
	Tacit knowledge
Hong Wang and David Thorns	Different forms of knowledge and new Chinese skilled immigrants' adaptation to New Zealand's knowledge society	85
Maria Lucia Maciel and Sarita Albagli	Knowledge societies, seen from the South: local learning and innovation challenges	97