

European Human Rights Law Review

Editor: Jonathan Cooper

Issue 2 2014

OPINION

Recent LGBT-friendly Legislation and the House of Lords' Use of "Wrecking Amendments"

Peter Laverack

ARTICLES

Living Instrument or Dead Letter—The Future of the European Convention on Human Rights

Sir Nicolas Bratza

The Snowden "Revelations": Is GCHQ Breaking the Law?

Jemima Stratford QC and Tim Johnston

Enforcing the London 2012 Airspace Restrictions: Lessons Arising from the "Lethal Force Option"

Nicholas Grief

The Human Rights Act in the Shadow of the European Convention: Are Copyist's Errors Allowed?

Carmen Draghici

CASE ANALYSIS

Using the EU Charter of Fundamental Rights Against Private Parties after *Association de Médiation Sociale

Cian C. Murphy

European Human Rights Law Review

Issue 2 2014

Table of Contents

Opinion

Recent LGBT-friendly Legislation and the House of Lords' Use of "Wrecking Amendments"
Peter Laverack 89

Bulletin 94

Bulletin: Counter-Terrorism and Human Rights 98

Articles

Living Instrument or Dead Letter—The Future of the European Convention on Human Rights
Sir Nicolas Bratza 116

The Snowden "Revelations": Is GCHQ Breaking the Law?
Jemima Stratford QC and Tim Johnston 129

Enforcing the London 2012 Airspace Restrictions: Lessons Arising from the "Lethal Force Option"
Nicholas Grief 142

The Human Rights Act in the Shadow of the European Convention: Are Copyist's Errors Allowed?
Carmen Draghici 154

Case Analysis

Using the EU Charter of Fundamental Rights Against Private Parties after Association de Médiation Sociale
Cian C. Murphy 170

Case and Comment

Vallianatos v Greece 179

P v United Kingdom 185

Söderman v Sweden 188

Topčić-Rosenberg v Croatia 191

Putistin v Ukraine 193

Al-Dulimi v Switzerland	196
X. v Latvia	200
Donohoe v Ireland	202
Perinçek v Switzerland	205
Book Reviews	211