

STETSON LAW REVIEW

CAMPUS VIOLENCE SYMPOSIUM

INTRODUCTION

S. Daniel Carter

ARTICLES

The Clery Act: How Effective Is It? Perceptions from the Field — The Current State of the Research and Recommendations for Improvement

Dennis E. Gregory

Steven M. Janosik

Making Campuses Safer for Students:
The Clery Act as a Symbolic Legal Reform

Bonnie S. Fisher

Jennifer L. Hartman

Francis T. Cullen

Michael G. Turner

Breaking the Code of Silence: Bystanders to Campus Violence and the Law of College and University Safety

Joel Epstein

The Emerging Crisis of College Student Suicide: Law and Policy
Responses to Serious Forms of Self-Inflicted Injury

Peter Lake

Nancy Tribbensee

The Appalachian School of Law: Tried but Still True

Wendy B. Davis

COMMENTS

Where Did Florida Go Wrong? Why Religion-Based Peremptory
Challenges Withstand Constitutional Scrutiny

Kelly Lina Kuljol

It Takes a Father? Conforming with Traditional Family Values as a Condition of Receiving Welfare: Morals Reform and the Price of Privacy

Bridget Remington