

BOSTON COLLEGE THIRD WORLD LAW JOURNAL

---

Volume XXII

Spring 2002

Number 2

---

ARTICLES

The "Dividend of Democracy": Analyzing U.S. Support for Nigerian Democratization

Philip C. Ake

"Success—At Long Last": The Abolition of the Death Penalty in Massachusetts, 1928–1984

Alan Roger

NOTES

But I Didn't Do It: Protecting the Rights of Juveniles During Interrogation

Was Blind but Now I See: The Argument for ADA Applicability to the Internet

BOOK REVIEW

Resisting "Utmost Resistance": Using Rape Trauma Syndrome to Combat Underlying Rape Myths Influencing Acquaintance Rape Trials

BOSTON COLLEGE THIRD WORLD LAW JOURNAL

CARDEX	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>

VOLUME XXII

SPRING 2002

NUMBER 2

ARTICLES

- The "Dividend of Democracy": Analyzing U.S. Support for Nigerian Democratization
Philip C. Aka ..... 225
- "Success—At Long Last": The Abolition of the Death Penalty in Massachusetts, 1928–1984
Alan Rogers ..... 281

NOTES

- But I Didn't Do It: Protecting the Rights of Juveniles During Interrogation
Lisa M. Krzewinski ..... 355
- Was Blind but Now I See: The Argument for ADA Applicability to the Internet
Jeffrey Scott Ranen ..... 389

BOOK REVIEW

- Resisting "Utmost Resistance": Using Rape Trauma Syndrome to Combat Underlying Rape Myths Influencing Acquaintance Rape Trials
Kara M. DelTufo ..... 419